INTUITIVE TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS INC. SPOTLIGHTS PRESIDENT BUSH EVENT DESIGN FIRM PULLS WHITE HOUSE EVENT TOGETHER IN 10 DAYS

Las Vegas, NV – June 5, 2002 – Intuitive Technology Solutions (ITS), a logistics and design firm for conferences, tradeshows and events, provided and oversaw the design and logistics for the Commonwealth Club and the Churchill Club who was hosting President George W. Bush. Faced with only ten days to prepare for this tier-one, live feed event, ITS was the first choice for the event. ITS had recently supported and managed other successful events, particularly Vice President Cheney’s recent San Jose, CA visit.

“The Commonwealth Club and the Churchill Club needed an experienced logistics company that was sensitive to the protocol guidelines set by The White House but also had the resources to pull this event together on such short notice,” said Brett Beanan, Founder and CEO of ITS. “We coordinated and designed the lighting, audio, video, scenic, and union crew, successfully tackling countless challenges, including a number of major event day changes per the request of the President’s security and press team.”

ITS provided soup to nuts logistics management which included leading walk through meetings to discuss the layout of the room to maximize theatrical effect while considering White House security and press needs. ITS directed resources in response to several last minute requests including the addition of 10 television monitors for a live CNN feed and 300’ feet of blue velour drapery, truss and rigging.
